CARRIED HIS MONEY IN SOLES OF SHOES

(Correspondence Associated Press)

LONDON, June 18.—A Pole named Piotr Talia, travelling from America to Dantzig was taken ill recently in the Young Men's Christian Association Inn, Waterloo Road, and removed to an infirmary. He had only two shillings and three pence in English money but hidden in his clothing he had 22 ten dollar gold pieces and paper money to the value of $990. His shoes were found to be very heavy and when they were photographed by the x-ray, twelve large coins, presumably $10 gold pieces, were found hidden between the leather and the soles of each boot.

FIRE FOUNTAINS IN A VOLCANO

(By Associated Press)

HILO, T. H., July 6.—Immense fountains of molten lava have been playing recently in the glowing lake of fire of Kilauea near here.

The liquid area of the lake has shrunk a little of late owing to formation of "spatter ramparts" and new floors, but it still occupies a considerable portion of the pit which is about 1200 by 1400 feet in the two diameters.

The lava flows on the Kauaia, about seven miles from the main crater, which broke out during December, 1919, still are active.

GUILELESS INDIANS SWINDLE TEXANS

(By Associated Press)

NOGALES, ARIZ., July 6.—Tepic, a Mexican intoxicant made from cactus, is a colorless liquid like gin or water. It is sold by bootleggers on this side of the border under the name of "Sonora water." It is smuggled in mainly from Nogales, Sonora.

Several persons have recently made complaints to the Nogales, Ariz., police that they had been "swindled" by bootleggers. The chief found that enterprising, supposed bootleggers have been bottling and selling the actual water of Sonora springs, and labelling the bottles "Sonora water."

NOT THE FAULT OF THE SCHOOL

(By Associated Press)

SALT LAKE CITY, July 6.—In sufficiency, not inefficiency, in dealing with public not gifted with academic ability is the great fault of America's public school system. Will C. Wood, California state superintendent of public instruction, declared in an address at the National Education Association convention here today.

Defense of the school system against its critics was voiced by Mr. Wood. Criticism, he declared, came from businessmen, who said some school graduates could not read and write, from manufacturers, who charged boys lack sense of responsibility, and even from universities which alleged many high school graduates lack general intelligence.

Mr. Wood declared his answer would be unequivocal "No" to the question "Are the schools a failure considered in the light of their relation to our national life?" One reason he gave for his belief was that the school was "the great and fundamental reason of opportunity for all the children of common folk." Another reason, he said, was that ninety per cent of our wartime soldiers, who turned the tide to victory, were products of the schools. "A nation that can turn from peace to war so successfully," he said, "cannot be said to have a failing school system."

"Faults of the school are faults of insufficiency," he said. "There has been insufficiency of vocational education, insufficiency of physical development and insufficiency of Americanism," he declared.

DOLLAR MONTH SOLDIERS ARE GOING HOME

(Correspondence Associated Press)

HONOLULU, T. H., June 28.—

Four years without having tasted a bite of meat or drop of tea, and six years of almost continuous fighting in bleak Siberia on a wage of one dollar a month are two features of the tales of deprivation told by Czech-Slovak privates recently here en route home via Panama aboard the United States transport Edolyn.

Many of the twenty-two hundred men aboard the transport came from the number walks of life, but a number of them, officers and privates, had been college professors, students of higher mathematics, musicians, etc.

One of a party of three Czech-Slovak, who were guests of a Honolulu businessman at dinner, wore the uniform of a private and the manner of a courier. He said he had been a professor of mathematics and history in Bohemia before the war. For three years prior to the outbreak of war he had been a political prisoner in the Hungarian mines. Then he was drafted into an Austro-Hungarian regiment and sent to the East front. Like thousands of others of his countrymen, he became a willing prisoner of the Russian, fought in the czar's forces until Russia collapsed, and then joined one of the Czech bands, which ultimately became the Czech-Slovak army of Siberia and fought its way from Southern European Russia to the Eastern boundaries of Siberia.

Those aboard the Edolyn said that when they left Vladivostok there were about 15,000 Czechs in Siberia awaiting repatriation, out of a force of 75,000 when the repatriation movement began. Most of these have gone home via the Suez canal. One ship, the Edolyn, traveled via Honolulu and Panama. The Mount Vernon went via San Francisco and Panama and two ships went to Vancouver. It is their human daydreams, crossing the southern of a Canadian railroad.

St. Rita

St. Rita was canonized in 1900.

She is called the saint of the impossible, and is generally pictured holding a bunch of roses. When she was dying, it was in the winter and cold, and she asked one of the nuns at her bedside to go to the garden to pick her a rose. Those about her bed thought that her mind was wandering, but one of them, as a matter of fact, went to the garden and, behold, on one of the bushes, was a beautiful rose.
